

A trusted resource

CDM has gained the trust of migrant communities across Mexico and their advocates in the U.S. Here is what some advocates who have used CDM's services have said:

"Thank you so much for all your help with the Quality Crab case! It has made our lives so much easier, and I know the class members have definitely appreciated it."

—Carol Brooke, Senior Attorney,
North Carolina Justice Center

"CDM's work was instrumental to our favorable outcome. It was amazing how smoothly the whole thing went off—from Guanajuato live to the courtroom in Chicago.... Thank you so much for your help in arranging [our client's] testimony. I could not have done this without you."

—Marni Willenson, Willenson Law, LLC

Supporting access to justice for migrants and their advocates since 2005

Centro de los Derechos del Migrante, Inc. (CDM) is a U.S. 501(c)(3) migrant workers' rights organization with offices in Mexico and in the United States. CDM ensures access to justice for Mexico-based migrants and seeks to improve recruitment and working conditions for all low-wage workers in the U.S. Since its founding in 2005, CDM has provided a full range of communications, investigative and litigation support services to U.S.-based counsel in cases involving clients and witnesses in Mexico.

Mexico-based investigations, outreach & litigation support make your case possible

Building and litigating a case involving people across borders can pose significant challenges. CDM designs customized solutions to overcome them. Since 2005, CDM's team of U.S.-licensed lawyers, paralegals and outreach workers has helped nonprofits, government agencies, law firms and settlement administrators to investigate and resolve U.S. cases involving clients and witnesses in Mexico. CDM has broad experience with cases ranging from single plaintiff lawsuits to class and collective actions involving thousands of individuals.

Successfully litigate when your clients are in Mexico

Managing a case when your clients and witnesses are in Mexico can be logistically and legally difficult. CDM helps make this process manageable. We have broad experience obtaining documents, taking declarations, drafting written discovery responses, and coordinating remote deposition and trial testimony via video conference. CDM can also help you navigate the process for bringing Mexico-based witnesses to the U.S. for hearings, depositions or mediations.

Maximize your impact through cross-border settlement administration & funds distribution

CDM works with advocates to administer U.S. class and collective action settlements involving Mexico-based class members. We design claim and outreach strategies to ensure that eligible workers can participate and receive the funds to which they are entitled.

We get the word out

CDM's team tailors communication strategies to locate witnesses and alert migrants to their right to participate in cases in the U.S. These include in-person meetings, print, online and radio advertising, coordination with government authorities, and international earned media strategies. CDM can also design customized campaigns on social media and Contrataados.org, CDM's "Yelp for migrant workers." Whether you want to build relationships on the ground or publicize your case through local and national media, CDM can craft a plan to help you succeed.
